

Proofpoint Threat Intelligence Services

Gain actionable threat intelligence on the No. 1 threat vector and beyond

Key Benefits

- Identify, understand and prioritize threats efficiently
- Make better decisions faster
- Optimize application of overstretched resources
- Prevent disruption and loss from advanced threats
- Provide contextual intelligence on the No. 1 threat vector and beyond

Proofpoint Threat Intelligence Services provide comprehensive, analyst-curated intelligence coupled with actionable recommendations that allow you to stay ahead of constantly evolving threats. The services also offer personalized, one-to-one live exchanges with analysts. These ensure we can tailor intelligence and proactive recommendations that are specific to your needs.

The services help you stay abreast of today's most critical dangers. They apprise you of threats early in the cyber kill chain, where your intervention can have the greatest impact. And they can help your team quickly understand these threats so you can effectively prioritize your response to them.

With Threat Intelligence Services, you get:

- Daily, weekly and monthly contextual threat intelligence reports from our expert threat analysts
- Indicators of compromise (IOCs) from the reports in an ingestible feed
- Advanced insight with actionable intelligence

Contextual Threat Intelligence

We provide you with contextual threat intelligence on the threat landscape. This comes by way of finished reporting for your stakeholders in cyber threat intelligence (CTI), the security operations center (SOC), incident response (IR), security awareness and executives. This context can help you benchmark your threat environment against global and vertically relevant trends.

You can use this intelligence to:

- Gain awareness of the latest threat and actor developments in the global threat landscape
- Understand trends, threats and actors as well as gain actionable recommendations and IOCs
- Keep all levels of your security team and leadership informed of threats and train them to mitigate risk
- Hunt and alert on analyst-curated global IOCs provided through an ingestible IOC feed

Advanced Insight

We provide you with daily, weekly and monthly analyses. And together with the IOCs that you get, your team gains visibility into the latest threats and threat-actor developments. This visibility covers the front of the attack chain for the primary threat vector and beyond. Our curated threat intelligence can give you an early warning that will allow you to adopt proactive defenses and improve your security posture.

Use these insights to:

- Monitor when actors change tactics, techniques and procedures (TTPs)
- Learn about new techniques, actors and malware when they appear
- Understand enduring trends and major shifts in the threat landscape
- Gain context into the broader landscape and how your organization compares
- Discover and learn more about the threats that target your vertical before they appear in your own mail flow

Tailored Threat Analysis

Our premium offerings feature a regular cadence and a designated analyst. It also lets you submit requests for information (RFIs) to our broader research teams.

We can provide your teams with specialized insights that are tailored to your security needs. These include:

- Answers to tactical, operational and strategic questions
- Deep analysis of email threats
- Research assistance and custom-reporting for board-level presentations

We offer a wide range of services to assist your team. These include everything from actionable intelligence reports to custom inquiries to assistance with implementing defensive mitigations.
