

MAIL ROUTING AGENT (MRA)

Email is at the core of business communication for organizations and with today's diverse and ever-changing business environment, mergers and acquisitions, disparate offices, and compliance regulations, the demands on email routing requirements can be daunting. Many businesses have to navigate complex email infrastructures, often including open source environments with custom scripts and tools that have been built organically over the years.

Proofpoint Mail Routing Agent (MRA) provides secure, scalable, and reliable email infrastructure based on the Sendmail MTA for on-premises email environments of all sizes and complexity. Advanced email routing and policy management technology strengthens your messaging backbone infrastructure and reduces the dependency on hard to replace resources, such as a highly skilled staff. Plus, you obtain peace of mind knowing that you are backed by the same high levels of service and support that all Proofpoint enterprise customers enjoy.

PROOFPOINT MAIL ROUTING AGENT

Advanced email routing

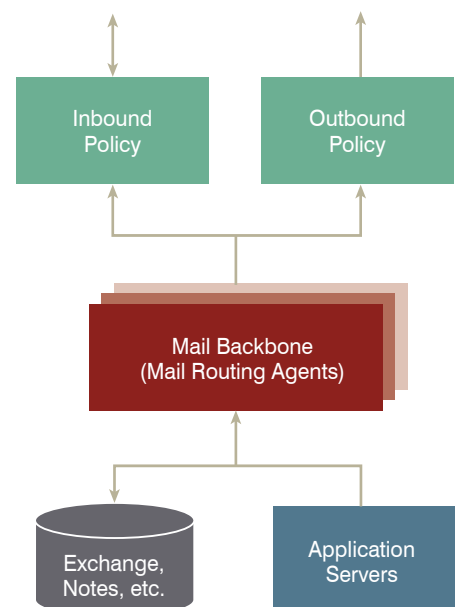

Scale your messaging capabilities horizontally with the platform trusted by some of the largest organizations in the world. Gain the flexibility to support multiple requirements including gateway routing, HA clustering, disaster recovery, internal routing, and more.

Robust policy management
