For Customers: 2021 Cyber Threat Landscape

January 28th at 10am PT

Every year, Proofpoint’s threat research team and threat intelligence expert Sherrod DeGrippo examines trends from the prior year and looks ahead for changes in the threat landscape for the year to come. For 2021, some of the top concerns include an increase in blending email and cloud threats as a new form of social engineering while preventing insider threats and data loss in the new normal.
